INDEX.

A

Adams, Dr. H. C., his work on Public Debts reviewed, 350.

B

Bailey, W., his work on Local and Centralised Government in Ireland, reviewed, 350.

Ballantyne, A., his life of Lord Carteret reviewed, 235.

Bolton, T. H., his book on the Tithe Acts reviewed, 47.

Bowen, Sir C., his translation of Virgil reviewed, 448.

Bréard, C., his edition of Jean Doublet's journal reviewed, 387.

C

Carteret, Lord, review of Mr. Ballantyne's biography of, 235—his early days, 243—his life at Oxford, 244—his marriage, and entry into the House of Lords, 245—appointed Lord of the Bedchamber, 246—his success as Ambassador Extraordinary to Sweden, 248—becomes a Secretary of State, 249—career as Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, 251—his conduct in Opposition, 252—become prime minister, 253—his adventures at Dettingen, 254—his foreign policy misunderstood, 256—his later years as Lord President of the Council, 259.

Church of England, Disestablishment, Lord Selborne's work upon, reviewed, 47.

Clubs, Political, review of works by John Timbs and Louis Fagan upon, 109—Almack's, 109—the 'October,' 110—the 'Cocoa Tree,' 111—Brooks's, 112—Reform Club, 117, 122—Carlton, 117, 126—Westminster Reform Club, 119—National Liberal Club, 126—working-men's clubs, 126—characteristics of a political club, 131—'Eighty' Club, 137—Liberal Union Club, 138.

Crimea, Invasion of the, review of the concluding volumes of Mr. Kinglake's history of, 161—position of the allies after Inkerman, 162—underground war, 163—Todleben's defensive works, 164—General Niel's secret mission, 169—bombardment of Sebastopol, 172—Pélissier's war against rifle-pits, 173—Sardinian troops landed, 174—divided counsels as to bombardment, 175—the Emperor Napoleon's design of commanding in person, 177—abortive expedition to Kertch, 180—Pélissier as French commander-in-chief, 183—successful expedition to Kertch, 188—storming operations, 189—assault on the Malakhoff and on the Redan, 192—Lord Raglan's last days, 194.

D

Dalmatia and the Quarnero, review of Mr. Jackson's book upon, 81—mediæval art and architecture of, 83—influence of Venetian architecture in, 85—Diocletian's palace in Spalato, 89—church of San Donato and the duomo at Zara, 93—cathedral at Sebenico, 94—basilica of Traü, 98—duomo and convent of Curzola, 100—cloisters at Ragusa, 101—Gothic sculpture at Ragusa, 102—island city of Arbe, 104—duomo at Parenzo, 106.

Darwin, Charles, review of Mr. F. Darwin's Life and Letters of, 407—his ancestry, 409—childhood and school-days, 410—abandonment of the study of medicine, 411—theological studies, 412—natural history pursuits, 412, 413—geological tour, 413—love of music, 414—intention of entering into holy orders abandoned, 414—appointed naturalist to the 'Beagle' expedition, 414—his marriage, 417—work on coral reefs, 417—rural retreat at Down, 418—personal appearance and daily habits, 418—works on barnacles and 'Origin of 'Species,' 421—'Descent of Man,' 'Expression of the Emotions,' and works on fertilisation of plants, 422; and on the action of worms, 423—last illness, 423; and death, 424—his family affection and kindness to animals, 425—zeal for science, 426—philosophical powers, 429—his hypothesis examined, 430—his religious opinions, 435—his theories not proved, 440.

Darwin, F., his Life of Charles Darwin reviewed, 407.

Dicey, Professor, his letters on Unionist Delusions reviewed, 260.

Doublet, Jean, review of Charles Bréard's edition of the journal of, 387—his early years, 388—shipwrecked, 389—introduced to the Duchess of Portsmouth, 390—captured by privateers, 390—interview with James, Duke of York, 392—becomes a privateer and captures a Dutch merchantman, 393—employed on a secret mission for King James II., 395—kidnaps a collector of customs, 397—his capture of the Scarborough frigate, 397—attacked by Moorish pirates, 400—an unwelcome offer of marriage, 401—tragical story of Christian captives among the Moors, 402—loss of his slave-ship, 403—escape from premature burial, 404—Shetland and St. Kilda, 405—retires from the sea, 406.

E

Egypt, Campaign of 1882 in, review of Col. Maurice's military history of, 285—events preceding the expedition, 289—the 'dual note,' 292—the expedition decided upon, 293—bombardment of Alexandria, 295—landing of troops from Cyprus, 298—seizure of the Suez Canal, 299—the advance from Ismailia, 300—action at Kassassin, 306—battle of Tel-el-Kebir, 310—the dash on Cairo, 317.

Europe, the Peace of, review of a speech of Prince Bismarck, 553—alliance of Germany with Austro-Hungary and Italy, 554—alliance of the three Northern Powers, 557—the Bulgarian question, 561—pacific prospects in France, 563—peaceful relations between England and her neighbours, 564—the political outlook, 565.

F

Fagan, Louis, his work on the Reform Club reviewed, 109.

Franco-Russian Alliance, A, review of a letter of Prince Galizyn, 140—failure of early attempts at, 141, 148—treaty of Tilsit, 144—negotiations under Charles X. for, 145—Louis Napoleon's leanings towards, 146—demand of Katkow and the Muscovite party for, 150—opinion of Russian statesmen upon, 156.

Froude, J. A., his work on the English in the West Indies reviewed, 319.

G

Galizyn, Prince N. N., his letter on the theories of Katkow reviewed, 140.

Gill, Dr. David, his work on astronomical photography reviewed, 23.

I

Israel, the People, review of M. E. Renan's history of, 482—pre-documentary history of, 485—Monotheism of, 487—alleged bull-worship of, 493—the ephod and the ark, 496—the cherubim, 497—Judaism and the Prophet of Nazareth, 498—'Elohism' and 'Jahvehism,' 502—M. Renan's theory of the origin of the patriarchs, 504; and of the Levites, 509—derivation of the name 'Jahveh,' 513—holiness of God the distinguishing feature of the religion of Israel, 515—the Pentateuch, 516—the Sabbath, 517—misrepresentation of Scripture characters, 518.

J

Jackson, T. G., his work on Dalmatia and the Quarnero reviewed, 81.

K

Keltie, J. Scott, his 'Statesman's Year-Book' reviewed, 350.

Kinglake, A. W., concluding volumes of his history of the invasion of the Crimea reviewed, 160.

L

Layard, Sir H. A., review of his early adventures, 519—his land-march to Ceylon, 520—visits Petra, 521—ruined cities beyond Jordan, 522—journey from Damascus to Baghdad, 524—with a caravan through Persia, 525—among the Bakhtiyari tribes, 529—a hairbreadth escape, 543—visits a captive friend, 544—across the desert to Basra, 545—barefoot to Baghdad, 548—ruins of Susa, 549—explores the navigability of the great rivers, 550—his stay in European Turkey, 551.

Ligne, the Princess Hélène de, her memoirs reviewed, 1—her school life at the Abbaye-aux-Bois, 4—a 'barring-out,' 9—her marriage to the Prince Charles de Ligne, 13—birth of her only child, 15—her life at the Polish court, 17—her passion for Count Potocki, 18—death of her husband, 22—her marriage to Count Potocki, 23.

M

Maurice, Col. J. F., his military history of the campaign in Egypt in 1882 reviewed, 285.

Mouchez, Admiral E., his work on astronomical photography reviewed, 23.

Municipal Debt and Local Taxation, review of books upon, 350—creation and rapid growth of, 351—incidence of, 352—expenditure for public safety and health, 354—cost of improvements, 357—tolls, 358—amount of local debt in England up to 1885, 360—English municipal debt compared with that of the United States, 363; and with that of Paris, 366—effect of growth of population upon, 371—municipal extravagance, 373—suggested remedial measures, 378.

P

Palgrave, W. G., his 'Ulysses, or Scenes and Studies in many Lands,' reviewed, 319.

Perey, Lucien, his memoir of the Princess Hélène de Ligne reviewed, 1.

Pickering, E. C., his works on stellar photography reviewed, 23.

Photography, Sidereal, review of works upon, 23—lunar daguerreotypes, 24—collodion process applied to moon-portraiture, 25—solar photography, 27—dry plates, 29—stellar photography, 30—the comet of 1882, 32—the Paris photographic telescope, 34—projected photographic survey of the heavens, 36—spectroscopy, 44—large telescopes, 45.

R

Renan, E., his history of the People Israel reviewed, 482.

Ruskin, John, his works reviewed, 198—rhetorical character of his writings, 199—his 'Modern Painters,' 201—fallacy as to 'fixed 'laws' in painting, 203—proper object of landscape painting, 207—modus operandi of Turner, 209—accurate observation of nature, 213—character of Turner's work, 216—'Stones of Venice,' and 'Seven Lamps,' 218—Venetian Gothic art, 220—meaning of architectural design, 223—relation of nature to architecture, 224—'Elements of Drawing,' 226—works on social and economical subjects, 227—'Political Economy of Art,' 230—'Hortus Inclusus,' 233—his own artistic work, 234.

S

Selborne, Earl, his defence of the Church of England against Disestablishment reviewed, 47.

T

Timbs, John, his work on clubs reviewed, 109.

Tithes, review of works upon, 47—amount of tithe rent-charge, 49—origin of tithes, 50—commutation bills, 56—Act of 1836, 59—complaints of tenant-farmers, 61—calculation of averages, 64—State control over Church property, 70—demands of advocates of disendowment, 72—suggested improvements in incidence of tithes, 74—redemption, 77.

U

Union, the Battle for the, review of books upon, 260—views of intelligent society in Ireland upon, 263—claims of the Irish minority, 264—arguments of the Separatists, 265—true meaning of 'nation-'ality,' 268—ultimate political tendencies of Home Rule, 269—local government distinguished from Home Rule, 272—what have the Nationalist leaders done for the moral and material welfare of Ireland? 276—the land question, 282.

V

Virgil, review of Sir C. Bowen's translation of, 448—influence of his 'Æneid' in succeeding ages, 448—secret of his popularity, 451—his blending of the present with the past, 454—early translations of, 456—medieval adaptations of, 457—comparison of versions, 458—Dryden's rendering, 460—Wordsworth's attempted translation, 460—Sir C. Bowen's compared with other versions, 461—the 'Ec-'logues' and 'Georgics,' 473—astrological allusions, 479—date of the fourth eclogue, 479.

W

West Indies, the, review of works by Mr. J. A. Froude and Mr. W. G. Palgrave upon, 319—social and political changes in, since last century, 320—present condition and prospects, 322—results of popular government, 323—dangers of the climate for Englishmen, 324—decline of civilisation in, 326—Barbadoes, 328—Grenada, 330—defences of the islands, 331—Trinidad, 333—Dominica, 337—the 'boiling lake,' 339—Jamaica, 341—Cherry Garden, 343—Mandeville, 345—Havana, 347.

END OF VOL. CLXVII.

PRINTED BY
SPOTTISWOODE AND CO., NEW-STREET SQUARE
LONDON

33

XUM